

Kiley Eisenhower of Stafford Serves as Intern for Moran

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Kiley Eisenhower of Stafford is serving as an intern with Congressman Jerry Moran. Eisenhower is a 2003 graduate of Stafford High School.

"The internship program is a good opportunity for young people to get a better understanding of the federal government," Moran said. "A First District native and outstanding student leader, Kiley represents the best of what Kansas has to offer. I'm happy to have Kiley working on behalf of Kansans."

Kiley is a junior at Fort Hays State University, working towards a degree in Justice Studies and Spanish. This past spring, she was elected student body president for the next school year and is on the Deans Honor Roll. Also at FHSU, Kiley is involved in Student Alumni Association, SPURS, the sophomore honorary society and the Tiger Wild booster club. Kiley is also an orientation advisor for the university. Following graduation Kiley plans to attend law school or graduate school, emphasizing in student affairs.

"I am very fortunate to have this opportunity to work with and meet a lot of great people," Eisenhower said. "I am learning a lot and I get to see first-hand how our government operates and the issues that are important to Kansans."

In the office, Eisenhower will assist Congressman Moran with legislative and administrative duties on behalf of the people of Kansas' First Congressional District.

Kiley is the daughter of Paul and Deana Eisenhower of Stafford.
